

Serving San Diego Veterans

America is privileged to field the best-trained military force in the world. However, some veterans find their skills don't immediately transfer to a civilian job market. Others face severe challenges adjusting to civilian life, and many are coping with the debilitating effects of injuries and disabilities as a consequence of multiple deployments in combat zones.

As a result, many veterans fall into post-battlefield trauma, unemployment, homelessness and substance abuse. Veterans Assistance of San Diego (VASD), a program of Interfaith Community Services, provides proven solutions to help. Our purpose is simple: We return our nation's heroes to the honor and dignity of a healthy, stable and productive life.
